TRIP PROFILE

In bicycle racing, KOM/QOM stands for “King/Queen of the Mountain,” a designation awarded the best fastest climber on an event or a stage. With such craving for climbs in mind, we have designed this trip to average 1472 m of climbing per day, with a total distance of 587 km over 6 cycling days. On Day 1, we meet in Hanoi for a welcome dinner. On Day 2, we transfer for 1h45m to get beyond the Hanoi city limits to Luong Suon and do our first ride, 94 km with 1200 metres of elevation gain to Mai Chau. From here on, all our rides are point to point, with transfers only if riders choose to skip part of the day’s route. Day 3 is a ride of 72 km with a climb of 1368 m, from Mai Chau to Moc Chau. Day 4 offers a respite, with a 94 km ride that climbs 631 m and includes a great descent from Moc Chau. On Day 5, we ride 84 km with 1155 m of elevation gain through more remote territory to Phu Yen. The final two days of riding are formidable challenges: we ride 137 km with 2298 m of elevation to Than Uyen on Day 6, then Day 7 covers 106 km and 2177 m of climbing to bring us to Sa Pa, our destination. We spend the morning of Day 8 exploring Sapa on foot, then drive 5h back to Hanoi, with final night dinner in the city. Day 9 is departure day, when you may transfer to the airport or other destinations.

Your guide’s expert knowledge of the area and terrain ensures you always know what is coming up in terms of distance and difficulty. This makes a tremendous difference, as does the constant supply of water and refreshments along the way.

Suitability: Almost all cycling days include over 1,000 meters of elevation gain, with two days of well over 2,000 meters of elevation gain. Climbs range from short and steep to long and gradual. Though a support vehicle with water, refreshments and empty seats is always nearby, strong cycling fitness and solid climbing experience is recommended for full enjoyment of this trip.

Biking conditions: Our route takes us on scenic mountain roads on tarmac in primarily good condition, though there will be a few rough sections. Some ascents and descents will be steep, requiring good handling skills. Good awareness of the road is especially important in Vietnam. Motorbikes, trucks, pedestrians and animals will share the road and come across our path. We should always be on the lookout for potholes, patches of gravel, or other possible obstructions.

Day 1 Arrive in Hanoi

Check in to your hotel in Hanoi, conveniently located in the central West Lake area and close to plenty of restaurants, historical attractions and museums. If you have time, it's worth taking a stroll to get a glimpse of how life in Hanoi used to be. In the afternoon, meet your guide and cycling mates for a tour briefing. We'll then take a short drive to get our bikes and get fitted, followed by a welcome dinner of Northern Vietnamese cuisine.

Day 2 Hanoi to Mai Chau

After an early breakfast, we'll transfer for 1h45m by van out of Hanoi to ideal cycling territory in the town of Luong Son, Hoa Binh Province. Once we arrive, we'll hit the tarmac for a flat warm-up out of the town. The first climb comes at around 6 kilometres, but so do the views of quintessential rice fields against a backdrop of green mountains. We'll have a local lunch on a hilltop, followed by a gorgeous ride through the village of Ba Khan with views overlooking the large Hoa Binh reservoir as we head up the big climb for the day, followed by a 12-kilometre descent to the end of the ride. Our accommodation for the evening is a beautiful resort set on a peninsula at this reservoir on the Da River. Your afternoon is free to enjoy the lake view, take a dip in the pool, or get a massage at the spa. We will gather for dinner in the resort.

Day 3 Mai Chau to Moc Chau

After a leisurely breakfast at our resort, we'll begin our second day of riding along hidden roads through small mountain villages. The ride begins with a flat warm-up section before we tackle the big climb for the day, a gradual ascent over forested terrain for 25 kilometres that takes us to 1,200 meters above sea level. We'll take a rest at the top and then continue across a more level section to Moc Chau, our destination for the day. This region is known for tea plantations, pine trees, and dairy farming, which is unusual in Vietnam. It is also home to people of the Muong and Thai ethnic groups. After checking into our sleek hotel in the center of town, take some time to relax by the pool with great views of the mountains, or go for a massage.

Day 4 Moc Chau to Phu Yen

Today's ride will be a change of pace, starting with a gently rolling 5 kilometres followed by a 25-kilometre descent to a tributary of the historic Da River. The Da was a crucial aquatic supply line for North Vietnam during the war and offers beautiful views each time we encounter it on our journey. We then ride up a relatively modest hill with 250 m of elevation gain. The gradient is not too challenging, and after descending, we'll join up with the main Da River again and ride alongside it for a mostly flat but pretty second half of the ride to our hotel in the small town of Phu Yen. The town and its surrounding communities are home to many people of the Hmong ethnic group. We'll enjoy dinner in these peaceful surroundings and prepare for a bigger day of climbing tomorrow.

Day 5 Phu Yen to Nghia Lo

We are now solidly within mountain territory and can expect some big climbs on the days ahead. In the morning, we'll ride from our hotel and tackle the first of these, the incredible Lung Lo Pass. This snaking road through the misty green mountains was another supply route for the Vietnamese Army. It's a long ascent from Phu Yen, but there are a few switchbacks to ease the gradient near the top of the pass. The descent is short, but we'll have about 15 kilometres of mostly flat riding before a few short but steep climbs at the end of our ride. In the afternoon, we'll arrive at our destination for the day, the small town of Nghia Lo. Tucked away in the dense mountain terrain, the town is known for its mesmerizing tea plants.

Day 6 Nghia Lo to Than Uyen

In the morning, we have the option to visit Nghia Lo's local market to see many of the region's local tribal people such as the Nung, Ma and Hmong selling their wares. After reaching our bikes, we will ratchet up the climbing once more: the first half of our ride will gradually take us up to 1500 m on the dramatic Khau Pha Pass in Yen Bai Province! After reaching the top of the pass, we'll take a much-needed break for lunch and serene views before enjoying a long descent. Be prepared for a few rolling climbs along the way, however. There's a final, gentle climb to the town of Than Uyen, a valley town in Lai Chau Province between the Pung Luong and Phan Xi Pang (Fansipan) mountains. After settling in, we will gather for a hearty meal after this big day.

Day 7 Than Uyen to Sapa

Our final day of cycling on the trip begins with a warm-up out of Than Uyen as we cruise up the valley over a series of rolling hills with views to Phu Tra Mountain and Hoang Lien national park. We then approach the Fansipan, Vietnam's tallest mountain, and circle around it in a crescendo to the top of Tram Ton Pass at almost 2000 m above sea level, a fitting culmination of our epic cycling adventure. Breathe in the fresh air and appreciate the well-earned view from the "roof of Vietnam." A steep, technical descent then brings us into the town of Sapa, traditionally a major market hub of Northern Vietnam. Prior to French colonization, Sapa was not conquered by the lowland Vietnamese, and was the territory of an unknown tribe that drew enigmatic petroglyphs on the rocks in the valley. Dao, Giay, Hmong, Pho Lu and Tay people now inhabit this area, yielding a cultural richness evident in the local costumes, handicrafts and cuisine. Tonight's dinner will be in the heart of this dynamic northern town.

Day 8 Sapa to Hanoi

The morning is yours to enjoy the morning life of the market town of Sapa. Feel free to sleep in, take a lazy breakfast or a stroll through the side streets to check out the tribal foods, handicrafts, and sights of this idyllic setting. After lunch, we'll transfer by car back to Hanoi, a drive of five hours that we will live up as a Vietnam road trip with strategic rest stops along the way. Back in the historic capital, we will gather for a celebratory dinner in a classic Vietnamese milieu where we'll congratulate each other on our amazing ride, swap stories, and bid farewell.

Disclaimer: The adventure cycling tours we operate often go beyond the beaten track, and the countries where we ride are not always predictable. Due to these reasons, it is occasionally necessary to reroute or update itineraries. Our guarantee is that we will not change a trip unless for safety or to improve it. Our listed hotels are always accurate at the time of writing, but should we have to change any hotel, it will always be for a similar or better one.

NUTS & BOLTS

Bikes

Because some people can't imagine going on a trip without their own beloved bicycle, we do not provide them as part of this tour.

However, you can hire bikes locally for the price listed in the tour pricing section.

If you bring your own bike, please make sure it is a road bike in good mechanical order.

Bike Repairs

Basic spares and tools are carried by the guide and on the support vehicle, though we cannot guarantee having spares for every conceivable problem. Carrying a basic tool kit, a spare tube and a pump while riding is recommended.

Safety

Wearing a helmet is required on all our biking adventures and is non negotiable. If you do not wear a helmet you will not be allowed to cycle. Your tour leader is trained in first aid and emergency rescue, but to a large degree you must be responsible for your own safety while riding. It is therefore compulsory that you take out travel insurance that will cover you for a mountain biking tour.

Guides

You will be led by a local English-speaking guide and if the group is 9 people or more we will add another guide to the tour. All our guides are well informed in the history, culture and religions of the area where you are biking and are skilled at passing that knowledge on to you. Your guide is also medically trained and an experienced cyclist, able to handle most minor repairs en route.

THE NITTY GRITTY

Passports and Visas

Vietnam e-visa application is available to all nationalities. You can apply for a single-entry visa up to 30 days, or a multi-entry visa up to 90 days. Application is through the Vietnam visa portal.

Please carefully fill out the form and check the information you have entered. Even minor spelling errors will render the visa invalid and your entry to Vietnam will be denied.

For peace of mind, we suggest applying for your e-visa as early as possible, and no later than 2 weeks before your expected arrival in Vietnam. While processing time is generally no more than 1-3 working days (not including weekends and Vietnamese holidays), it is wise to give yourself some buffer time in case there are any issues.

If you are joining a multi-country trip beginning in Vietnam, please be sure to select the correct exit point from the list below:

“Saigon to Bangkok” and “Saigon to Siem Reap”: Song Tien Landport

“Road Biking from Saigon to Angkor”: Moc Bai Landport

“Remote Vietnam and Laos”: Na Meo Landport

“Hanoi to Luang Prabang”: Tay Trang Landport

If your SpiceRoads trip will end in Vietnam, please choose your point of exit as the airport, port or land border through which you have arranged to leave Vietnam.

Health

See here for recommendations and detailed information.

Weather

Weather in Vietnam is divided into 4 main regions - the far north, north, central and south.

The far north can get very cold in December and January while the dry season runs from October to late March and the wet season between April to September.

In Hanoi & the north, it is hot, wet and humid from May to October while November to April is cooler and dry.

Central Vietnam experiences hot, dry weather between January & August with temperatures ranging in the mid 30°C. High levels of rainfall are during September - November.

Southern Vietnam is dry and hot from November to April, and warm and wet between May & October, with the highest rainfall in June, July & August.

Food

Meals are included as per the itinerary where B = breakfast, L = lunch, D = dinner. Most meals are Vietnamese food and features noodles, rice curries and soups. Vietnamese cuisine is world famous and we make sure you sample as much variety as possible. Any special dietary requirements can also be catered for as well. Please let us know at the time of booking.

Drink

Keeping you completely hydrated is a job we take very seriously. Cold water, some energy-restoring local fruit, and soft drinks are included in the tour price while riding. Soft drinks and other beverages during meals are not included. Beer is freely available everywhere in Vietnam but is NOT included in the price.

Solo Travelers

SpiceRoads does not require you to pay a surcharge for traveling alone. We will arrange for you to share accommodation with another traveler of the same gender and if we can not match you up we will provide a single room at no extra charge. If you prefer not to share a single supplement is payable to guarantee your own room. The cost of the single supplement is listed above.

Extra Expenses

We recommend that you tuck away a few extra dollars, perhaps US$10, for incidentals. It is customary to tip local tour guides and drivers, however, the amount you give should be dependent on the level of service you receive. We will send you a tipping guideline before the tour begins.

Money

The official national currency is the Vietnam dong (d), but the US dollar is widely accepted in tourist centers. However, in smaller towns and villages the dong is preferred. ATMs are available in all major tourist destinations and big cities. Vietcombank has the best network with a single withdrawal limit of 2,000,000d (about US$125). Most major currencies can be exchanged at leading banks in Vietnam, but the US dollar is preferred away from the tourist centers. Changing US$100 will make you an instant millionaire! You cannot legally take the dong out of Vietnam but you can reconvert reasonable amounts of it into US dollars on departure.
